DECISION IN THE CIRCUIT COURT BY JUDGE DEADY.

Estelle King by her Guardian v. Joseph M. French—No. 158, In Equity.

Where a confession of judgment was filed and judgment endorsed on the statement but not entered in the judgment book and an execution issued thereon—Held that there was no judgment to support the execution, and therefore a sale of property thereunder was invalid and of no effect.

A party in possession cannot maintain a suit to quiet his title under section 500 of the code unless it appears that he has some legal or equitable interest in the property or claim thereto.

A motion or proceeding to amend the records of a State Court in a particular case must be made or brought in such Court, and cannot be removed to a National Court.

DEADY, J.—Monday, June 2, 1873.

This suit was commenced on March 6, 1872 in the Circuit Court for the county of Multnomah to quiet the complainant's title to lots 1, 2 and 3 in block 221 in the city of Portland; and on June 10, on application of the defendant, who is a citizen of California, was removed to this court.

On September 6, complainant filed an amended Bill in this court from which it appears:

That on June 25, 1850 Daniel H. Lownsdale, Stephen Coffin and W. W. Chapman, being in the possession of the premises, conveyed the same to said Daniel H., by deed with a covenant of warranty against all persons, the United States excepted, and another to convey the title of the United States, if they ever obtained it.

That on August 30, 1850 said Daniel H. conveyed said premises to William M. King; that on August 6, 1855, said King being indebted to Thomas J. Carter in the sum of $1,350 and interest thereon for about a year, duly made and filed a statement authorizing the entry of a judgment by confession in favor of said Carter for said sum; that the clerk of said court endorsed a judgment on said statement for said sum and entered the same in the lien docket, but omitted to enter any judgment thereon in the judgment book of said court; and that the "judgment roll of said confession" has since January 2, 1857, "been lost or abstracted from its proper custodian."

That said Carter and King afterwards "recognized said judgment by confession, as of binding force," and that upon an execution issued out of said court, "upon said confession of judgment," said block 221 was sold to said Carter, who afterwards on January 5, 1857, received the Sheriff's deed therefor and caused the same to be recorded on February 9, 1857.

That complainant is a child of said King; that on February 4, 1857, said Carter and wife conveyed the premises in controversy to complainant, and the remainder of the lots in said block 221 to the other minor children of said King, which deed was duly recorded; that in 1857-8 said King enclosed said block and built a house thereon, and thereafter lived in the same with his family, including the complainant, until about November 8, 1869, when he died; and that during such residence said King "recognized and declared said lots 1, 2 and 3 to belong to the complainant.

That on October 8, 1869, said King made a deed to Hamilton Boyd for lots 1, 2, 3 and 4 of said block 221 for the pretended consideration of $3,000, but that the true consideration therefor was about $108; that the real value of said property was $4,000, and said deed was procured by fraud and passed no estate to said Boyd.

That said Chapman after the execution of the deed of June 25, 1850 and before September 1, 1853, became the donee of the United States under the Donation act of September 27, 1850, of a tract of land including said block 221, and to which, in 1862, he received a patent conformably thereto; that thereafter complainant by reason of the premises was entitled to a further conveyance from said Chapman for said lots, but that by the wrongful representations of said Boyd said Chapman, "by mistake," made such conveyance to said Boyd, on March 5, 1850.

That the complainant is in the possession of the premises, but neither said Boyd nor French have ever been; and that each of them at the date of the respective conveyances aforesaid, to them, "had knowledge and good reason to enquire and be informed of complainant's claim and title to said lots 1, 2 and 3."

The Bill concludes with a prayer that it be declared that the defendant holds the legal title to the premises in trust for complainant, and "be compelled to convey the same to her."

On February 15, 1873, the cause was heard on the Bill and a general demurrer thereto, and submitted.

On the argument, counsel for defendant made the point that as there was no judgment entered on the confession "in the judgment book," there was no judgment to support the execution upon which the sale to Carter was made, and therefore both it and the conveyances under it to Carter and complainant were void and of no effect.

In reply, counsel for complainant maintains that it is immaterial whether the judgment was entered in the judgment book or not. Carter was entitled to have it entered, and that gives his grantee a right that ought to be protected; and that courts do not permit parties to be prejudiced by the acts, omissions or mistakes of its officers.

The civil code of 1854, which was in force until June, 1863, provided for the entry of a judgment by confession without action. Among other things, the defendant was required to sign and verify a statement, authorizing the entry of a judgment for a particular sum. This statement was to be filed with the clerk of the court in which the judgment was to be entered, who was required to "endorse upon it and enter in the judgment book a judgment for the amount confessed." The verified statement with the judgment endorsed, thereupon became "the judgment roll." Or. Stat., 1855, p. 117. The judgment book was one which the clerk was required to keep for the entry of judgments, "in which each judgment was to be entered." Ibid. 119.

Section 1 of the Chap. on executions provided;—"The party in whose favor judgment is given, may, at any time within five years after the entry thereof, issue a writ of execution for its enforcement, as prescribed by statute." Ibid., 120.

The authority to issue the execution upon which this sale took place is derived from this statute. Its language is plain. It does not give the writ in any case until after the entry of the judgment. The place and manner of making "entry of judgments" is also prescribed by the statute. They are to be entered in "a book, * * * to be called the "judgment book." Now, an endorsement on "the statement" is not an entry in any book—let alone the judgment book. This endorsement on the statement is probably intended as a substitute for the copy of the judgment entry required to be attached to the papers in making up the judgment roll, in other cases. In this view of the matter, the statute should be construed as if it read—"who shall enter in the judgment book a judgment for the amount confessed and also endorse the same upon the statement."

But however this may be, until the judgment is entered in the judgment book, there is no judgment to authorize or support an execution. This entry is a condition precedent to the right to the writ. A party cannot enforce a judgment, until "after the entry thereof," and an execution issued before such entry is void, and a sale under it of no effect.

The maxim, "that equity looks upon that as done which ought to have been done," is also invoked to support this execution. But so far as I am advised, the maxim has no application to errors and omissions in the record of judicial proceedings. If this were otherwise, there would be no necessity for applications to courts to amend the records of their proceedings or for leave to make entries nunc pro tunc.

The general proposition that "courts do not permit parties to be prejudiced by the acts, omissions or mistakes of its officers" is admitted; but its relevancy to the case before the court is not perceived. The way in which courts prevent parties being prejudiced by such means, is by allowing amendments when the ends of justice require it, so far as they can, without injury to the rights of innocent persons. But this is not a proceeding to obtain an amendment of the record in Carter vs King by an entry of a judgment nunc pro tunc, and if it were, it would avail nothing, for that is a matter exclusively within the cognizance of the court where the confession is alleged to have been filed. This suit is brought upon the assumption that the record in Carter vs King is sufficient, as it exists, to support the execution upon which the sale to complainant's grantor was made.

But counsel insists that this cause having been removed into this court by the defendant, he ought not to be allowed to question the power of this court to amend the record of the State court.

This is a very singular proposition. First, it erroneously assumes that this was a proceeding commenced in the State court to amend the record in Carter vs King; and, Second, that such a proceeding could be removed to this court under any circumstances. Nor is it necessary that the defendant should question the power of this court to amend the records of another. No such power exists in any court.

At the date of the deed from L. C. and C. to King, neither of the grantors therein had any interest in the premises, except the bare possession. The special covenant therein for further assurance was a good contract to convey the land when the covenantors got the title from the United States. But it did not pass the title. It only gave a right to King or his assigns to have a conveyance thereof. Therefore the legal title never was in either King or Carter. Chapman having acquired the legal title to the premises from the United States, conveyed the same to Boyd as the assignee of King, who conveyed it to the defendant. The legal title is therefore in the latter.

The Bill also contains an allegation to the effect that the conveyances from King and Chapman were improperly obtained, but no particular facts are stated to support this general averment, except the inadequacy of price in the purchase from King. But mere inadequacy of price is not sufficient to vitiate or set aside a sale. Holmes v. Holmes, 1 Sawyer, 104.

Nor does it appear from the Bill how the complainant has any right to question the sale from King to Boyd or the conveyance from Chapman to the latter. The alleged sale to Carter being void, she acquired no interest in the premises by the deed from him to herself, and is therefore a stranger to the title.

True, she alleges that she is the child of King, but she does not state that she is his heir or that the property or any interest therein was devised to her by her father, or descended to her upon his death.

Stark vs Stan, 6 Wall, 410, was, like this, a suit brought under Section 500 of the civil code to quiet title. In delivering the opinion of the court Mr. Justice Field said:

"We do not, however understand that the mere naked possession of the plaintiff is sufficient to authorize him to institute the suit, and require an exhibition of the estate of the adverse claimant, though the language of the statute is, that 'any person in possession, by himself or his tenants may maintain' the suit. His possession must be accompanied with a claim of right, that is, must be founded upon title, legal or equitable, and such claim or title must be exhibited by the proofs, and, perhaps in the pleadings also, before the adverse claimant can be required to produce the evidence upon which he rests his claim of an adverse estate or interest."

The complainant having stated the grounds of her claim to an equitable title or estate in the premises in her Bill, as well as the defendant's estate therein, it appears that the defendant is the legal owner of the lots and that the complainant, although in possession has no interest in the premises or right thereto, and therefore her Bill is dismissed.

J. G. Chapman & D. Goodsell for complainant.

W. W. Page for defendant.

The Congressional Blow at the Newspaper Press.

In the expiring hours of the last Congress, a blow was struck at the newspaper press which may yet rebound and crush its authors. Some of the leaders in Congress, especially the Senate branch thereof, became angered at the persistent appeals of the newspaper press of all political shades, for a repeal of the franking privilege, and partly in retaliation, partly in the hope of checking the agitation, the Senate Committee surreptitiously engrafted the following clause in the bill to repeal:

Provided, That all laws and parts of laws permitting the transmission by mail of any free matter whatever it be, and the same are hereby repealed from after June, 30th, 1873.

With this appended, the bill passed both Houses, and not until after its passage was its object generally known, even to those whose breath gave it the force of law. This is shown by the subsequent action of the popular branch of Congress, which attempted to pass an explanatory bill continuing the postal freedom of the press.

A strict construction of the act as it now stands compels subscribers to country papers to pay postage thereon, even if they receive them in the counties where published—and compels payment of postage at the office of delivery on all newspaper exchanges. Elsewhere we give a complete schedule of the rates of postage, on and after June 30th, on all classes of matter sent through the mails. These rates, with the exceptions above named, are the same as heretofore, but a careful restatement is needed to rid the question of postage of the confusion which now surrounds it.

Recurring to the changes effected by the act repealing the Franking Privilege, we assume this position, and hope newspapers generally will impress it upon the proper authority—that, under all circumstances, the Postmaster General, whose duty it is to construe acts affecting his Department, should at once consider the validity of the clause quoted, and if a reasonable doubt is raised, should give newspaper publishers the benefit of it. The object of the act, as stated in the title and throughout the discussion, was simply to repeal the Franking Privilege. No other question was raised. It was not the intention of other than a few of the law-makers to impose new burdens upon the newspapers of the land, and since at least one branch of Congress attempted to rectify the mistake, there is abundant ground for setting aside the clause of that act until the incoming of another Congress. The Postmaster General has this power; the question of intention is plain in at least one of the component branches of government, and intention is after all the main ingredient in the correct construction of law. Here is Creswell's opportunity. He should immediately improve it, and when this is done there need be no fear of the action of the Congress which meets in December next.—American Journalist.

The Seattle Dispatch says: "A man just through from Kittitass Valley, via Snoqualmie Pass, reports from 10 to 12 feet of snow on the summit, and much fallen timber in the road. He was obliged to leave his horse at the lake, the snow being too deep and soft for him to travel."

LATEST FROM THE FRONT!

END OF THE MODOC WAR!

CAPTAIN JACK SURRENDERS!

Incidents of the Scout.

LANGELL'S VALLEY, LOST RIVER,
GREEN'S CAMP, May 31.

EVENING—After a thorough examination of the Modoc captives gathered in during the present scout under Col. Green, it is ascertained that the last band netted us thirty-four men, women and children,—thirteen of them being able-bodied warriors. We also obtained sixteen rifles of various patterns, one hundred and thirteen cartridges and several lean and hungry ponies.

Boston Charley and Sconchin are anxious about the disposition to be made of them. The former murdered Dr. Thomas and the latter mutilated Meacham. Boston and Sconchin look like desperadoes. Each carries his character in his face. Boston is about twenty eight and Sconchin is fifty. The boldest warrior of the band is Scar-faced Charley, a man of thirty years, quick, wiry, and weighing one hundred and fifty pounds. He takes his name from an ugly scar on his right cheek, which is the relic of a wound received years ago by a stage accident. He is the only warrior who would not cease fighting and lay down his gun at the first fight on Lost River.

Dr. Cabanis, of Yreka, the contract surgeon who piloted the Modocs into camp this morning after sleeping at night in their retreat, says of Capt. Jack that he presented a most woe begone appearance. The wily warrior sat upon a rock in the center of a little lava bed, twenty yards back from the crest of a bluff, and seemed as lonely as his surroundings. He was wrapped in a faded army blanket and his head was buried in his hands.

His sister, Mary, captured at Willow creek day before yesterday, talked to him with tears in her eyes, and asked that he enter our camp. He was sullen and had little to say. He did promise that he would surrender to-day. In the night he stole away. The Modocs say that Jack is insane. There is much method in his madness. He sees the end of a rope and is taking advantage of the dodges practiced by sharp whites. At present he is thought to be in this neighborhood with from three to five warriors. There are twelve Modoc warriors now at large. Scouts were made to-day in three sections of the country by the cavalry under Col. Perry, Maj. Trimble and Maj. Cresson. At last accounts the scouting had developed nothing new.

Modoc captives with whom I have conversed, say that more of the Modocs will certainly surrender in a few days. Meantime, there will be active scouting by the First Cavalry and the light battery of the Fourth Artillery. The war with the Modocs as a tribe is over. Fighting after guerrilla fashion will probably continue until the last outlaw is captured or killed.

Capt. Hizer's Company of Oregon Volunteers, numbering forty, arrived in this valley last evening and bivouacked near us. They will have to do some little scouting to-day.

APPLEGATE'S MANSION, CLEAR LAKE, CAL., June 1—2 P. M.—This morning the troops at the camp in Langell's Valley were divided into several parties and sent out as scouts after the fleeing Modocs. Just as the scouting parties left, the Modoc captives, with the exceptions of Bogus Charley, Hooka Jim, Steamboat Frank and Shacknasty Jim, were sent to to this ranch in charge of Lieutenant Taylor, of the 4th Artillery, and a small detachment of men, whither your correspondent also came. This is General Davis' headquarters at the present time. The Modocs are anxious to learn what disposition will be made of Sconchin.

LATER.

APPLEGATE'S HOUSE, CLEAR LAKE, CAL., June 1—3:30 P. M.—A series of prolonged yells and cheers aroused this camp from a p'easant siesta half an hour after the departure of my last courier. General Davis, General Wheaton and other officers, and all the men rushed from the house and tents to find the cause of the uproar, and at once the whole camp was in commotion. Down the level plain, north of the house, was a grand cavalcade of mounted horsemen.

The steeds rushed forward at a furious rate and soon reached the group of spectators scattered about the premises. Capt. Jack is captured, shouted a sturdy sergeant; again the valley echoed with cheers and yells. The mounted command was that of Perry. He had returned from a scout of twenty three hours. Three miles above the mouth of Willow creek at half past 10 o'clock this morning the Warm Spring scouts struck a hot trail. After a brief search Modocs were discovered. Col. Perry surrounded the Indian retreat. His men were bound to fight. Suddenly a Modoc shot out from the rocks with a white flag. He met a Warm Spring and said Jack wanted to surrender. Three scouts were sent to meet Jack. He came out cautiously, glanced about him a moment, and then, as if giving up all hope, boldly came forward, unarmed, and held out his hand to his visitors. Then two of his warriors, five squaws and seven children darted forth and joined him in the surrender.

The command that made the famous scout was the first squadron of the First Cavalry, Col. D. Perry, composed of troop F, Lieut. Miller, troop H, Maj. Trimble, and medical officer Assistant Surgeon DeWitt. The guides were C. Putnam and H. H. Applegate.

Jack is about 40; height, 5 feet 8 inches, and compactly built. He has a large and well formed head, and a face full of individuality. Although dressed in old clothes, he looks every inch a chief. He does not speak to anyone.

The Modocs are grouped in the field near the house and surrounded by a guard. The spectators gaze into Jack's face with eager interest, but he heeds them not. He is still as a statue.

CAMP YAINAX, May 29, via ASHLAND, June 2.—I have just returned from a trip to Chewaucan, Summer Lake, and Silver Lake, where I have been to ascertain the facts regarding the killing of the three Snake Indians, and to settle the matter, if possible, so as to avert further trouble, and I hasten to send you a few facts in order to allay any excitement that may prevail. The killing of the Indians was the result of an intense excitement caused by false reports concerning the Reservation Indians and the Harney Indians. There were no Indians in that whole section of country, except a few of Chocktoot's band, which had gone over there from Yainax, and it proves that the 200 Indians at Silver Lake were really one old man and three squaws. The matter of the killing will be settled without much difficulty. The public need have no fear of an outbreak from this cause. (Signed)

U. S. Indian Agent.

SENTIMENT FOR THE FLAG.—An English regiment in India had had its colors taken away from it for some act of insubordination. Every man had his rations and pay as usual, and no physical punishment of any sort was added to the ideal one mentioned. Yet every man in that regiment groaned and suffered under the chastisement. Coarse, illiterate, brutal fellows, perhaps, they were. Why should any one of them mind the taking away of a regimental flag? Common sense would laugh at such punishment for such men. But the commander knew what he was about. A fort was to be stormed at the top of a long hill. The enterprise was a peculiarly perilous one, and one that required something more than ordinary courage and ordinary persistence. The commanding officer rode down the line to the position occupied by the disgraced regiment. "Men," he cried, "your colors are at the top of that hill—charge!" And charge they did, that single regiment, up the long, cannon-swept hill, through the abattis and over the ramparts, into the fort at last—a mere handful of them left to receive the flag again, for which more than two-thirds of the brave fellows had gladly given up their lives. There was no common-sense in the matter, else the fort never could have been taken at all. The poetry in the souls of those rough soldiers overbore all that; and who shall say that the poetic was not the worthier and more manly view?

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The Mexican Minister has not yet received full official account of the particulars attending Col. There is no doubt our explanation will be based on the ground of it being the duty of the Government to protect its citizens and punish all hostile invaders of our soil wherever found, the Mexican Government being unwilling or unable to prevent such incursions. It is said in military circles that the operations of Col. McKenzie will doubtless serve as a warning to all ... bands who cross over into our territory for murderous purposes.

"LIVE AND LET LIVE."—A New York pickpocket makes the following appeal to the public through a public print of that city. Similar complaints may be expected from our local thieves and burglars most any day:

SIR:—Please advise your readers to leave their names and addresses in their pocket-books. It frequently happens in our business, that we come into possession of portemonnaies containing private papers and photographs which we would be glad to return, but we have no means of doing so. It is dangerous to carry them about, so we are forced to destroy them. I remember an instance where I met with serious trouble, because I could not make up my mind to destroy a picture of a baby which I had found in the pocket-book of a gentleman, which came into my hands in the way of business on the Third avenue road. I had lost a baby myself, the year before, of the same age as this one, and I would have given all I had for such a picture. There was no name in the portemonnaie, and no way of finding out who was the owner, and so, like a fool, I advertised it, and got shadowed for it by the police. Tell your readers to give us a fair show to be decent—and always leave their address in their pocket-books. We want to live and let live.

Yours, truly,

A PICKPOCKET.

The San Francisco Post has this to say concerning the Oregon and California Railroad:

That Ben Holladay's railroad building has come to a stop is shown by the arrival of railroad iron from Portland for the Central Pacific Railroad Company. As we understand it, Holladay has sold bonds in Europe for the whole length of the road, and now that he has got the money he stops building, and leaves the bondholders to whistle for their money.

The Daily Oregonian.

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE , 1873.

What will They Do with Him?

The Modoc war is ended and the hostile Indians are all bagged and in the hands of the military. A bad piece of business is terminated, and the ability of the Government to hunt down and punish its Indian wards, when they become refractory, is made apparent to the Indian tribes. Probably no other place on the continent offers a stronger position as a center of operations for Indian desperadoes, than the Lava Beds from which Captain Jack and his band have been dislodged. It is not likely the power of the Government will be set at defiance again by any of the Indians of this northwest coast, unless in its treatment of these captives the Government shall demonstrate to the surrounding tribes, that through depredations upon the whites lies the road by which fame is to be reached and revenge gratified—without peril.

And this suggests the question: What will be done with Captain Jack and his associates? They have been indicted in the Circuit Court of Jackson County, for the murders committed in the Tule Lake massacre last fall. Will they be given up to be tried by the State Court? A part of them were directly engaged in the treacherous massacre of General Canby and Commissioner Thomas. Jack killed Canby and Scar-faced Charley slew Thomas. Sconchin made the deadly assault on Commissioner Meacham. Doubtless all or most of the others were privy to the assassination.

It will now be urged that they ought not be punished with the extreme rigor of the law, because they have surrendered and thus placed themselves upon the mercy of their captors. Ordinarily it would be not only ungenerous but inhuman to treat an enemy, who has voluntarily surrendered, as if he were an enemy still in arms. But Jack only surrendered at the point of the bayonet. His captivity is of the same kind as that of a man who, after being chased for days by a Sheriff's posse, and having fought his way to a strong fortress, is there besieged and forced to surrender to avoid immediate destruction. This is the situation of Jack morally. It is his situation legally, unless the fact of his being in the hands of the military forces of the Government, who are not acting merely in the capacity of a Sheriff's or Marshal's posse, makes a technical difference.

This Modoc trouble is over, and we hope at least a portion of the Indians participating in it may be made an example which will be sufficient to secure the frontier settlers against any further attempts of the same nature by restive and dissatisfied Indians. This is due to those people who have gone to the outposts of civilization and built them houses under the promise of protection at the hands of the Government. We have never for a moment doubted that this entire difficulty was the result of bad management on the part of the officials having the Indian affairs in charge; and although this view of the case may find little countenance just at this time, we venture to predict its correctness will be demonstrated when all the facts in connection with the origin of the troubles become known. But this does not argue that it is not both just and politic to treat the chief actors in the terrible tragedies of the past winter, as we treat other persons who have committed high crimes; try them and punish them without inquiring too closely into all the temptations that led them to the commission of their offenses.

Why does not the individual who signs his name "Many Republicans," publish that tremendous list of names of Republicans which he says is signed to his call for primaries? The trouble is, he has not got the names. But, why does he not publish what names he has? He can not deceive anybody by this shallow trick of talking about five or six hundred names, when he does not show them. The Citizens' Call was published, names and all, promptly, and any person with an ounce of brains knows, if there were not something rotten about this bogus Republican call, it also would be published. You can't find a lot of men reduced to the strait that the meeting on Saturday showed the "Many Republicans" to be reduced to, who would not rush into print with five hundred, or the half of five hundred, backers, if they had that many. Is it the meagerness of the list, or the number of names signed without authority, or the number copied from the San Francisco Directory, that stands in the way of its publication?

The Republican City Committee must be taken by the people who run the "Many Republicans" fizzle Saturday night, for a very soft set, if it is supposed the Committee will pay any attention to their resolution instructing them to call primaries. In the first place, it is an unprecedented thing in the Republican party for some anonymous persons, whether he signs himself "Many Republicans," or one Republican, to get up a meeting nearly two weeks earlier than the campaign is usually inaugurated, and attempt by this means to forestall and dictate to the Committee. And in the next place, if the Committee propose to be governed by expressions made in advance by the Republicans of the city, they cannot but refuse to comply with the demand of this meeting, for they have been instructed differently by a vastly larger number of Republicans.

A friend who is one of the shrewdest observers of political matters, and a Republican, says he "didn't see why there should be such a terrible fuss made about the danger of having a few local elective offices filled with Democrats, especially when all the fuss comes from men who, having control of the appointive offices, have filled them all with Democrats or those who have not a clean record in the Republican party." The question before the county at this time, he thinks, is, "shall the Democrats who are to fill the appointive offices be named by Democrats or by Republicans?" That is bringing it home.

This is Marshal McMahon's letter accepting the Presidency of the French republic: "I will obey the will of the Assembly, the depository of the national sovereignty. It is a heavy responsibility, but with God's aid and the devotion to the army, I will continue the work of liberating the territory and restoring order, and will maintain tranquility and the principles on which society rests. To this I pledge my word as an honest man and a soldier."

We are reliably informed that a report is in circulation at different points up the valley that the smallpox is in Portland. What could induce persons to put such a statement in circulation we cannot imagine. There is not a case of smallpox in this city and has not been for nearly a year.

Plan for a Modoc Protective Union.

There is an association of philanthropists (so-called) in the East, to which there is the pleasant and suggestive appellation of "The American Indian Aid Association." This association has just issued an address which condemns the ordinary method of dealing with retractory sons of the forest by powder and ball—and protests, in general terms, against the outrages inflicted upon certain tribes. The moral sense of the nation, it is said, has become so blunted that the indiscriminate massacre of unoffending red men, excites no public disapprobation. A statement of the Modoc difficulties is given. The association thinks that this statement "furnishes sufficient evidence to prove that Captain Jack and his band have not broken any treaty, and never killed the whites except in self-defence or retaliation. Their killing of Canby and Thomas, under a flag of truce, was treachery no more than that under Gens. Jessup and Taylor, when the Seminoles were hunted by blood-hounds." This "Appeal for the Red Man" next suggests a plan for the prevention of Indian troubles in the future. It asks the President to issue a proclamation, ordering the arrest of all persons accused of murdering Indians or raiding upon their lands; to give the Modocs a reservation in Lost River country, and establish a military post to defend them from border ruffians, abolish the present arbitrary power of the military in causing arrests; exempt Indians from taxation for over eighty years, and from State authority; allow no squatters on their lands, or entry thereon without a license, and banish all who have settled on Indian reservations. The association sweetly confides in the ability of "good, moral agents who understand Indian manners and customs, and especially Indian religion." This association of philanthropists (so-called) has also come to the mild view that to exterminate the Modocs would be "a great crime, as well as a national disgrace." In brief, the appeal holds that the Modocs have been grievously wronged; that they murdered inoffensive settlers only in self-defense or retaliation, and not as a mere pastime; that the massacre of the Peace Commissioners was justified by a precedent, and that it would be well for all parties to call it a "stand-off," shake hands and have a new deal. In which deal the patronage of Indian reservations should fall to Brother Broadbrim who is always prepared to resign himself to the delicious pangs of office-holding upon just provocation.

What has become of the attempt to get up a straight Democratic ticket? From all we can learn that attempt is a more complete failure than the bogus Republican meeting of Saturday. The people of Portland have, with great unanimity, concluded that there is no necessity for a strict party election for local officers, and every attempt to force them into a party struggle against their convictions of what is the best for the city, proves abortive. In State politics the people of Portland always stand close by their party; but they decide against the introduction of party strife into their purely local affairs, since these have no connection with questions of a political nature.

The salary steal seems to have developed a peculiar style of literature. Here is a specimen of the Back-Pay Nursery Rhymes, after Mother Goose. It originated in the Sixth Missouri District, whence came the Congressman named in the idyl:

> Havens was a Congressman,
> Havens was a thief;
> Havens took his back-pay,
> And Havens came to grief,
> The people called to Havens,
> He wouldn't pay it back;
> The people said to Havens,
> It isn't cheek you lack.

The Connecticut Senate has passed, by a vote of 16 to 5, a constitutional amendment providing for one State capital. Hartford is designated as the survivor. New Haven will still retain Yale College, doubtless, even if the House of Representatives agree to the amendment. That is one source of consolation to which the people of the latter city will savagely cling.

A memorial praying for a repeal of the "social evil" ordinance has been signed by over 1,000 women of St. Louis, and presented to the Common Council. From the fact that this is the second or third monster memorial of which we have heard, we infer that the ladies of that city still believe in the efficiency of petition. They cling to the guaranteed right with remarkable tenacity.

The Yale Record says that several young ladies applied for admission to the Yale Medical School at the beginning of the present term. Their application was refused. The faculty of the School unanimously adopted a resolution declaring that "ladies would not be admitted to the Medical School until they were also admitted to the other departments of the University."

It was stated yesterday that the men who got up the "Many Republicans" call, were still circulating it, hunting up signatures, and accepting every name they could get hold of, regardless of party. That is a gay way of getting up party primaries. When their ticket is nominated it will be a "straight Republican ticket, without distinction of party."

The Baptist Anniversary meeting was held in Albany, N. Y., May 20th and 21st. At the Missionary Union resolutions were adopted to increase the force in India by sending out ten new missionaries. Collections are to be taken up in all the churches to meet the expense of this increase, and to pay the present deficiency of $42,000.

They tell about a Congressman (he is from Wisconsin) who is afraid to take his back pay for fear of being called a fool, and afraid to refuse it lest he be denounced as a thief. His constituents have settled the difficulty by calling him both.

The Boston Traveller offers to explain the modesty of certain Congressmen who have concealed the fact that they refused back-pay, by saying that being Congressmen, they are naturally ashamed of acting honestly." Ill-bred wretch!

The Bulletin last year opposed the regular Republican ticket in East Portland, and the opposition ticket was elected by votes from the railway depot and car shops. How is that for devotion to the Republican party?

Captain J. Edwards Hunter, of the Royal Navy, has just completed the work of laying a new cable between Havana and Key West. The cable is ninety-five miles in length, and the time occupied in laying it was only fourteen hours.

Mr. Benjamin O. Woods, the well-known manufacturer of Novelty presses, died at his residence in Boston, May 20th, of "nervous prostration of the brain, induced by overwork."

Letter from St. Joe.

St. Joe, June 1, 1873.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

Inasmuch as this is getting to be a fast town, I suppose a few items will be of interest to your readers. If our good patron could look down and see to what purpose his children spend their Saturdays—and some other days, too, for all that—his outer covering would swell with pride and indignation. Yesterday, at 11:30 A. M., a special train arrived from Portland, bringing Ben Holladay, his German friends and other dignitaries, who took a stroll through our town and returned apparently not very well pleased, for one whose skirts are not entirely clean, is said to have made the remark, "You have a h—l of a town here!" He might with more propriety have said we.

About 1 P. M., the Lafayette and McMinnville Base Ball Clubs played a match game which, as usual, was won by the Lafayettes, the score being 29 to 60. A large crowd of ladies and gentlemen were present and manifested much interest in the game.

Then came scrub racing until late in the evening. Whether or not the Indians went away with the stakes I can't say, but suppose they did. With a little more labor our race track will be second best to none.

During the afternoon a new Base Ball Club was organized under the name of "Forest City Club." This is composed of the best players in Yamhill county, and in due time they expect to challenge the State for the championship.

The sports of the day closed with a social hop in the evening, which was well attended and hugely enjoyed by all the participants. It was just such a party for which St. Joe is getting famous. Good music—good dancers—good dancing, and every body in a good humor. Peg one for St. Joe.

It was reported here yesterday that the Indian who won the purse last Saturday week was arrested; what for, I don't know; perhaps for winning money from a white man. Modoc ought to know better. However, nothing came of it, unless perhaps a handsome little bill for the taxpayers to foot. We can stand it; pitch in.

There are rumors of an outrage having been committed in Tillamook last week, the particulars of which I have not learned, further than that one or two men undertook to get away by foul means with some cattle, and were arrested in this county.

Business is lively, crops look well, farmers are in a good humor, railroad tariffs cheap and the goose hangs high.

So it seems at last that the slumbering crater of Chinese "pure cussedness" has really got to work in earnest. The fiery spirit of the average Chinaman of San Francisco has burst the Chronicle's fetters. He pants for blood in genuine Caucasian style. Ah You is the unfortunate individual to whom there is a black bean. Our dispatches told us a few days since that certain Chinese had offered a reward of five hundred dollars for the assassination of Ah You. Our worst fears are realized. The dispatch is all too true. The Chronicle vouches for it and argues therefrom the sad moral of a general demoralization of the Celestial element of San Francisco. "But," says the Chronicle, suddenly beset by an awful doubt, "if there is any such Chinaman as Ah You he will not be killed!" What if it should prove that Ah You is only the Chinese for John Smith or the other all-prevailing pseudonym, John Doe! Why, then, no life is secure from the impious hands of these sinister foes to the Chronicle's peace. Here is the argument condensed—the climax of that journal's agony:

> But suppose Ah You was murdered in some of the dreadful subterranean opium hells of the Chinese quarter; who would know it? His slayer would be tried, and if convicted, he would be executed, or imprisoned, or fined by tribunals unknown to our law. We know that there are gambling hells beyond the reach of our police—that there are tribunals that pass upon life and property, of whose existence our authorities know no thing.

This is distressful.

The convention of Governors, recently held at Atlanta, Georgia, produced no startling results. In fact it is difficult to determine what was done. The subject which chiefly occupied the attention of those present was some project for a canal from the Mississippi to the Atlantic. Upon this subject there was a diversity of views. Some thought that the canal should be built by the Government, and not by private corporations. The convention adjourned sine die without taking any definite action on the matter.

The political atmosphere of Rhode Island seems to effect Democratic journals quite as unpleasantly as does the air of Portland, Oregon. The Providence Herald—the last of the tribe has just succumbed to a kind of financial asphyxia. In the last issue the publisher says that "the party is too impoverished or too indifferent to sustain a journal."

The several departments at Washington were closed on the 30th inst., to enable the employes to attend and participate in the ceremonies of Decoration Day.

The result of the Bogart court-martial has not yet been made public. It is believed, however, that he has been convicted.

Jones dines at the Kirkwood, and during the rush that set in upon the 4th of March, he found a strange waiter at his elbow. He found, moreover, an obstacle in his way when he called for a gin cocktail. The waiter groaned, and looking around saw a melancholy face with sympathetic eyes bent upon him. "What's the matter?" demanded Jones; "have you the colic?" "No, sah," was the solemn response; "but I is worried to see you ask for dat liquid damnation." "Why, who are you?" "Me, sah? I'm a theological student of the Wayland Theological Seminary." "And what are you doing here?" "A waitin' sah. Thirty ob us volunteered in dese crowded times to make a little money to continue our theological studies, sah." "Well, my reverend friend," said Jones, "you go and fetch me a first-class gin cocktail, and I'll add twenty-five cents to your theological fund." It was done.

The New York Tribune illustrates the statement that the postal card may become a plague, by the following incident:

> A sober, respectable Deacon in Philadelphia, a man of stainless reputation, and an exemplary Christian, received the following, which was read by the post-office clerks, the carrier and the recipient's family: "Dear Gus: I will be on at 6 P. M. Put a bottle of Roederer on ice." The poor Deacon, who is of the teetotal persuasion, and doesn't know Roederer from fusil oil, is now regarded as a wild and abandoned bacchanal, in the habit of guzzling in private like a wet Mohammedan.

There is a corner in the egg market at Olympia, and they sell at 50 cents a dozen. It is likely that this price will not be long maintained, as they are dull at 15 cents here.

Pittock, Portland.

CITY.

HARPERS "SOLD."—The last number of Harper's Weekly contains a large engraving entitled "Captain Jack and his Companions," which purports to show the redoubtable Jack, the Modoc chief, with some of his sub chiefs and associates. The description states that the picture was engraved from a photograph taken but a short time prior to Jack's starting on his belligerent career, and after having been forwarded to Harpers. To those who are unacquainted with the particulars, the portraits of these noted braves look very well [illegible], but those who know of the real circumstances cannot but "larf," and conclude that Harpers have been victims of misplaced confidence. These celebrated publishers have, [illegible], caution and general reliability, built up a world-wide reputation to which, in a great measure, is attributable their [illegible] career. But some [illegible] has most certainly imposed upon them [illegible] in the present instance. These [illegible] no more represent Captain Jack and his companions, than do the Japan Embassy. [illegible] months ago, during the progress of [illegible] in the United District Court, a number of [illegible] were brought down to this city from the [illegible] Reservation. One day while five of these noble red men, whom we believe were chiefs, were walking with a lordly air, it was proposed to photograph of them. "Lo" not offering [illegible] to having his classic lineaments [illegible] to pasteboard, the preliminaries were quickly arranged. Five of these forest gentlemen were grouped in a group and photographed in [illegible]. By [illegible] on account another person was added to the interesting group, that of a well known and leading physician of this city, [illegible] will be recognized at a glance on [illegible] the picture. After adorning a gallery [illegible] months, a negative was forwarded to [illegible]. The doctor who occupies a position in [illegible] of the picture is summarily disposed of by the silver as "a former agent," which [illegible] a good "gouk" on the Esculapius, [illegible] he has resided in Portland for [illegible] years. For once the "Journal of [illegible]" is [illegible]. However, as Capt. Jack, [illegible] stunning engraving, is [illegible] artist will soon have [illegible] features, and then the Weekly can [illegible].

[illegible] POSTAL CARD.—A well [illegible] of this city has lived a few days [illegible] card from Washington City, on [illegible] the following very appropriate [illegible] to the postal card system:

[illegible]

I'll find you well—

[illegible]

[illegible] bears off the palm as [illegible] and for the [illegible]. When the fact is considered [illegible] is one of the very large [illegible] of the Union, and [illegible] several hundred [illegible] "C[illegible] City," [illegible] At [illegible] of the Circuit [illegible] of [illegible]. Although but a few [illegible] have elapsed since the adjournment of the court a number of parties have negotiated [illegible] Only [illegible] praying for a divorce [illegible] of the [illegible] have been filed in the Clerk's office for the June term of court, and the cry is "still they come."

[illegible] COUNTY COURT.—The following [illegible] was transacted yesterday in the Washington County Court, Judge Humphreys presiding.

The following persons [illegible] the committee: D. F. Harrington, [illegible] Wiley, A. Bushwiler, J. W. Cook, L. [illegible] E. J. Jeffreys, O. B. Gibson, Walter [illegible] Whitehouse, Thomas Frazer, Jacob [illegible] J. B. Wyatt, Al. Zeiber, Charles Hodge, [illegible], A. Labbe, J. S. Keller, M. O. [illegible] W. O. Bruen, S. G. Reed, N. H. Lane, [illegible], J. C. Hawthorne and W. T. B. [illegible]. It is especially desired that the members [illegible] be present at the meeting.

[illegible] INSANE.—John Cummings was examined [illegible] Judge Hamilton on Saturday last [illegible] of insanity, and after the proper [illegible] he was adjudged crazy and [illegible] to the hospitalities of the Asylum. The man at the corner of First and Alder attracts a large and admiring crowd every evening.

Lively opposition now between Portland and Vancouver. Two boats on the line—Carrie and Maria Wilkens.

The Waldron Troupe concluded an engagement at Baker City on the 23d ult. They proceeded to Boise City the following day.

A club has been organized in the city which bears the euphonious title of "The Lunch Fiends, or Men with Iron Jaws." It bids fair to attain a large membership.

Gathering wild strawberries in the city limits is indulged in by children to a great extent. Parents should be with them to see that they do not eat anything poisonous.

A gentleman who resides in the western part of the city informs us that no street lamps were burning on Morrison street at 12 o'clock Sunday night beyond Seventh street, while on streets north of Morrison the contrary was the case.

The opposition steamers Carrie and Marie Wilkens started yesterday afternoon for Vancouver, both leaving the wharf at the same time. They steamed off down the river, each traveling at the utmost speed. We are unable to say which boat reached its destination first, as both seemed evenly matched as to speed.

PERSONAL.

Dr. S. Parker was among the passengers on the California, bound for Sitka.

William Leahy, of the Western Union Telegraph Company, in this city, is acting pro tem in the Victoria telegraph office.

Mr. John Holland, Chief Builder of the O. S. N. Company, [illegible] down from the Dalles yesterday. He reports that work on the Daisy Ainsworth is through. Steam will be raised in the boiler to morrow, for the first time, and the trial-trip is to take place some time next week.

Mr. W. B. Gilbert, a young attorney of this city, has consented to deliver the address before the alumni of Corvallis College at the approaching commencement. From what we can learn he is well qualified to fill this position. He graduated at one of the first New England colleges, and was chosen one of a party who were sent on a scientific expedition to South America. Subsequently he completed the course in the law department in the Michigan University. We have also seen commendatory notices of literary lectures which he has delivered since coming to this coast.

AMUSEMENTS.

The picnic and excursion to be given by the Portland Hibernian Benevolent Society, Thursday next, is exciting great expectations, on account of the magnitude of the arrangements and the [illegible] incurred to make the event prove one of the grand picnics of the season. At present the only obstacle which can interfere to prevent a very large attendance is the weather. The success of the excursion is an assured fact if a fine day is vouchsafed.

If favored by the weather the Champions of the Red Cross propose to hold their excursion and picnic to morrow. The grounds opposite Canemah have been selected. At an early hour the steamer Annie Stewart will leave the foot of Alder street with the excursionists, accompanied with the best of music. A variety of games will be indulged in at the grounds. The most attractive feature of the occasion will be a game of chess to be played by two experienced players, the figures used being represented by girls and boys dressed in appropriate uniforms. No effort has been spared to make the picnic a grand success, which it will doubtless be, should the weather prove favorable.

BASE BALL.

In New York, 19th ult., Atlantic 14, Philadelphia 11

Geo. Richard, Catcher of the College Club, was in the city yesterday.

The Pacific Club has challenged the Pioneers to play on Saturday. The challenged Club will accept.

The Pioneer Club will play the College Club, of Salem, on the 14th. They will go in to win. A strong nine will be presented. The first nine have adopted, in addition to the uniform, as mentioned a few days ago, a black cap and belt.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Especial attention is called to the sale of real estate, advertised to take place on Saturday, the 7th inst.

Mr. H. C. Morrice has opened a storeroom in Masonic Hall building for the sale of the Rock River Roofing Paper for which he is agent.

At 10 A. M. Oscar Kilbourn, the auctioneer, will sell, at the International Hotel, furniture and carpets. This is the last chance, so be sure and be present.

Messrs. Ferry, Woodward & Co. offer a rare bargain in real estate. Such a chance is seldom offered. We refer to the Cosmopolitan Hotel property and the buildings thereon.

Messrs. P. McGee & Co. have just opened an extensive stock of window glass, doors, sash and blinds, at No. 28 First street, Smith's block. If you have any business in their line call on them.

The firm of G. A. Steel & Co., have disposed of their entire stock of books and stationery goods to J. K. Gill and J. B. Roberts, who will continue the business under the firm name of J. K. Gill & Co., at the old stand, No. 75 First street.

If you want the woven wire bed, parlor and bedroom suits, the best spring and pure hair mattresses, go to Hurgren & Shindler.

The public mind has been somewhat agitated with the Modoc war, an occasional marine or railway disaster, and the dull times, and the prospect of buying clothing at a figure not large enough to clean a man to the bedrock. The place has been found where you can buy men and boy's clothing, or gentlemen's furnishing goods, at the very lowest prices. It is at Beck & Waldman's, corner of Front and Washington street, where a full assortment of men and boys' clothing, in the latest styles, can be selected from.

Mr John Kennedy, formerly of the Philadelphia Shoe Store, is now at the San Francisco Shoe Store with Fleischner & Crane, where he will be pleased to wait upon his friends and customers, with one of the largest and finest stocks of boots and shoes on the coast. He will also continue to take measures for ladies' custom-made shoes.

DRESS WELL.—The young man who desires his "make-up" complete should always select the place where the articles desired can be obtained. For a neat fitting suit, made of the very finest materials, the public is directed to the house of Fishel & Roberts, an establishment which ranks with the leading houses on the coast. The stock is complete, the attention paid to customers, and the promptness with which orders are filled, at once commends this house to all.

The man of enterprise creates, the weak imitator tries to copy him. Does any sensible man suppose that the legions of "Buchus," so called, that infest the drug stores, possess the real merit of Dr. Helmbold's Genuine Extract? Any sufferer from Kidney Complaint, Dropsy, Diabetes, or other urinary diseases in male or female, will detect the difference at once by the results. Helmbold's cures, the others fail. The genuine bears Dr. Helmbold's signature. John F. Henry, New York, Sole Agent.

"TRIED AND TRUE."—What words of trust and confidence are these! It is what many a poor sufferer can say of Helmbold's Buchu. It is the only reliable medicine of those terrible diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs. Beware of counterfeits. The genuine has the private proprietary stamp of H. T. Helmbold. Full directions with each bottle. John F. Henry, New York, Sole Agent.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

The Board of Trustees for East Portland assembled last evening at the usual hour. Present—Messrs. Garregan, McMillen, Shattuck, Stephens and Van Cleave.

President Hawthorne not being present, on motion Mr. VanCleave took the chair.

Minutes of last meeting were read and adopted.

PETITIONS.

A petition was read from Messrs Abrams, Hogue & Story, asking leave to use Water street, between blocks 9 and 16, in moving buildings. The petition was granted.

A communication was read from Gideon Tibbetts and others, asking for the vacation of the Powell's valley road. The matter was referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

J. J. Allen and thirty-six other persons sent in a petition asking permission to use the Council Chamber on Thursday evening next, as a public meeting was to be held for the organization of an anti-Chinese club. The petition was granted.

REPORTS.

A report was read from the Committee on Streets and Public Property, to whom had been referred the report of the Street Commissioner relative to certain work on Eleventh street. The Committee recommended that the Street Commissioner be authorized to purchase the necessary amount of lumber to continue the roadway to its intersection with Asylum street. The report was adopted.

The Committee on Elections submitted the following resolutions, which were adopted.

Resolved, That the following places be and are hereby designated and selected as the polling places for the respective wards of this city. First Ward—Sloper's carpenter shop on Fourth street, between Wallamet and Oregon; Second Ward—at the School house on J street, between Tenth and Eleventh, Third Ward—at the house formerly occupied by D W. C. Jones on Twelfth street between Alaska and Stephens.

Resolved, That at an election to be held in the several wards of the city of East Portland, on Monday the 16th day of June, 1873, for the election of city officers to serve for the ensuing term of one and two years respectively, there are hereby appointed judges of such election for the several wards as follows: First Ward—J. Buckman, F. R. Neal and Shaver.

Second Ward—W. Dalton, H. Cason, and Dave Raffety.

Third Ward—W. F. Allen, G. Tibbetts, and J. Gile, to serve as such judges at said election according to law.

Resolved, That the Auditor be and is hereby authorized to give legal notice through the daily papers of the city of Portland of the election to be held in this city on the 16th day of June, 1873.

ORDINANCES.

An ordinance in reference to prohibiting the employment of Chinamen on all work ordered by the city of East Portland, was read a third time and passed.

On motion the Board adjourned.

COOS BAY ITEMS.

Our regular correspondent writing from Empire City, under date of May 27th, says:

The hotels of this place are all full and overflowing, many persons having to sleep in the stable on beds of hay.

Collector Bushey and family have taken up their residence here. It is not known yet whether we are going to have a marble or granite Custom House built here.

One or two hundred Indians have made their appearance on Coos Bay the past week—principally from the Siletz reservation.

The steamer Pelican, Capt. Howell, came in on the 21st inst., and left for San Francisco on the following day. It is expected she will enter the line between Coos Bay and San Francisco. Capt. Brown, of this place, is now employed as coast pilot on this steamer.

Considerable improvement is shown in the "get up" of the News since Tom M[illegible] took charge.

Mr. Luse has launched his propeller. She will do service as a logging boat.

Marshfield is happy now—the brass band at that place being a strong attraction.

Circuit Court opened yesterday, Judge Mosher, presiding. Among the attorneys in attendance from abroad are Willis, Watson and Lane, of Roseburg; Burnett of Corvallis, and Thayer of Portland. Judge Chenoweth, Prosecuting Attorney for this District, is making it hot for law-breakers to day. He succeeded in convicting Charles Smith, Charles Hanson and Matson, for riot. They have not yet received sentence.

Arrivals since the 20th were the steamer Pelican, brig Sheet Anchor, schooners Ivanhoe and Elida. The steamer Eastport is overdue.

Sailed—Schooners Fannie A. Hyde, B. H. Ramsdell, Pacific, Selma and steamer Pelican.

Seven hundred and fifty tons coal and 150 M. feet of lumber shipped past seven days.

Portlanders, come hither if you want to spend a pleasant time during the warm months.

It is often remarked by strangers visiting our State that we show a larger proportion of good horses than any other State in the Union. This, we tell them, is owing to two principal reasons: in the first place, we breed the very best stock; and in the second place, our people use Sheridan Cavalry Condition Powders, which in our judgment are of incalculable advantage.

OREGON.

Two men are in jail at Hillsboro awaiting the action of the Circuit Court.

Strawberries are plentiful up the valley, and with cream are highly relished and extensively indulged in by "ye webfoot."

The Umatilla Indians pay frequent visits to Baker City, selling horses, buying whisky, and now and then frightening the weak-minded population.

A letter from Baker City says: "Building is going on here rapidly, but I fear Baker will overdo herself, as our farmers have no market for their produce, and we have no capital to develop our mines."

Several strange Indians have been seen on the Umpqua river about 25 miles east of Roseburg and settlers are beginning to feel apprehensive for the welfare of themselves and families, but it is likely they are friendly Indians hunting and fishing.

A Roseburg man set a large spring trap to see if he could find out who it was stealing his fruit and caught his mother in law. He quietly released her and, it is unnecessary to say, has made no mention of his missing fruit since. The doctors think that the old lady will probably be moving around on crutches in a few weeks.

The Roseburg Plaindealer of the 30th ult., says: "We have had the coldest and most disagreeable weather, during the past week, ever experienced at this season of the year by the "oldest inhabitant" of Douglas county. It has stormed most all the time, and a gentleman who crossed the Coast Range Mountains twenty miles from this place, informs us that snow fell there on Tuesday night to the depth of four inches."

THE TERRITORIES.

There are 273 volumes of choice works in the Seattle Library.

Little Susie Blair, a deaf mute who was sent from the Salem school to Seattle by express, arrived home safely.

The Waldron Troupe, instead of going to Idaho direct from Baker City, are playing at El Dorado and the various mining camps in that vicinity.

Miners are in demand, both in the Boise Basin and at Rocky Bar, while those who are handy with the ax can get plenty of wood to cut near Boise City at $2 per cord. There is a general complaint of a scarcity of money all over the coast, and if we may believe those who have tried other localities, there is no better camp for a working man than in that vicinity."

There are 23 men at work on the penitentiary building at Steilacoom, and the ground is all ready for the building. The pile driver has finished the wharf, 250 feet in length, and gone to attend a call at Steilacoom. The schooner Experiment is loading brick at Steilacoom, and the schooner General Harney sailed from Bellingham Bay on Thursday with the first cargo of stone for the building.

The Idaho Statesman says: "From a letter received by John S. Gray from U. S. Marshal Pinkham, dated at Lewiston, May 21st, we learn that one Chinaman will accompany him back to this city, and take quarters at the U. S. boarding-house. He was convicted of selling whisky to Indians. Six or seven other criminal cases were to be tried, with chances in favor of conviction, so that we have a prospect of quite a disreputable addition to the inmates of the Penitentiary."

OAKES AMES' CONTEMPT FOR HIS COLLEAGUES.—The death of Mr. Ames is much talked of, and is sincerely regretted by a great many people, including some who, perhaps, would have voted for the resolution of censure if they had been in Congress. I saw him several times within a month before he was taken sick. On one occasion he pulled out his pocket diary, and showed me the resolution of censure and those who voted for it. The resolution he seemed to make light of in view of the names of some at least who for voted it. He spoke with contemptuous phrase, if not with bitterness, of men who censured him, and afterward came to his arm to implore him to give his vote for the salary grab. This he said, he could not do; though he admitted that he good-humoredly, and out of his weakness toward the leaguers, withheld his vote on one or two subsidy questions. He said he had done no wrong, and never dreamed for a moment of bribing any member, and on this point he was ever emphatic and decided in his language, apparently having no regret or sense of doing a wrong thing, however imprudent his language might have been. And I do not doubt the sincerity of his feelings in this particular. There is not much that is new to be said about Mr. Ames or his history. He was a man for great business enterprises; a good-natured, obliging great giant of a man in a business point of view, who will be agreeably and pleasantly remembered, after all, when men who have never been censured, and men who helped censure him, receive the appropriate "blazon of oblivion." Boston Corr. Springfield Republican.

TO THE TAX-PAYERS OF THE CITY OF PORTLAND.

The Portland Water Company take this method of defining their position on the purchase of their works by the city of Portland:

On the 25th day of April, 1872, this company received a communication from Messrs. W. S. Ladd, J. B Congle, C. H. Lewis and S. G Reed, sub committee on water supply, appointed by the Mayor, asking the question

"Will you dispose of your works to the city of Portland? and if so, you will state price, terms, etc."

Our answer was, we would sell; and the price, three hundred thousand dollars, to be paid as specified.

Again, the Committee on Fire and Water called on us at our office, saying they came in accordance with a resolution passed by the Common Council, on the 5th of February, to confer with us as to the purchase of our works by the city, to ascertain the price, and report to the Council at their earliest convenience. This company named the same price, viz: $300,000, that had been named to the former committee; two hundred and forty thousand dollars coin, and the city to assume the payment of sixty thousand dollars currency bonds, bearing seven per cent. interest, payable in July, 1880.

The committee made their report to the Common Council on the evening of February 18, 1873, from which report we copy the latter portion, viz:

We have been permitted to examine the income of the Water Company for the years 1870, 1871 and 1872, from rents of water, and from them we learn that the receipts would pay the interest on the bonds, the cost of operating the works, and have a considerable surplus, while the rents could be lowered one-fourth the present rates, and still pay rents sufficient to pay interest and cost of operating; thus giving to our citizens cheaper water, which is a matter greatly to be desired.

The increase of population in the city will increase the rents, and cheaper rates will increase the takers, without corresponding increase in the cost of operating; and in the no distant future your Committee believe that the rates can be reduced to one half the present rates, and still leave a sufficient revenue to pay interest on the bonds and cost of operating, while a small sum can be annually accumulating to form a sinking fund for the redemption of the bonds.

Under the provisions of our charter nothing can be done in the way of incurring an indebtedness sufficient to purchase or build Water Works by the city until the proposition is submitted to the people at a general election, and by them approved.

Your Committee therefore recommend that the proposition of the Portland Water Company for the sale of their Works, rights, &c., &c., be submitted to the people at the coming June election, as provided by charter, for their approval or rejection.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
(Signed) J. B CONGLE,
J. C. MORELAND,
Committee on Fire and Water.

The Portland Water Company would respectfully state to the tax-payers the fact, that they have not urged the city to purchase our works! We have simply answered in good faith communications from committees appointed by the Mayor and Common Council of this city, as we supposed in good faith on the part of the city, and as a continuance of our willingness to give to the tax payers and the public any information they may desire, in order that they may vote intelligently at the coming June election for or against the purchase of our works by the city, we submit the following abstract from our books for two years, with the probable rates for one year:

COLEMANS EUCALYPTUS
Dr. J. S. Coleman's Compound Extract of Eucalyptus is a preparation combining all the valuable medicinal qualities of the Eucalyptus, which is cultivated in nearly every California garden for its medicinal utility, having become the household remedy for all diseases of the KIDNEYS, BLADDER and URINARY CANAL, and SEMINAL WEAKNESS. It seems to have a direct affinity for the GENITO-URINARY ORGANS and their surroundings, and cures them by its alterative, healing and balsamic properties more effectually than any other known remedy.
It is an invaluable remedy for all diseases of the mucous and serous membranes, such as BRONCHITIS, HACKING COUGH, NAUSEA DURING PREGNANCY, DYSPEPSIA, LEUCORRHOEA, etc.
This preparation is the result of Dr. Coleman's experiments with the medicinal properties of the tree in the U. S. Marine Hospital in San Francisco, in 1871 and 1872, where he had unusual facilities for testing the various methods of preparing the remedy and its uses. It can be relied upon as certain to give the promised results, and hundreds of testimonials of its efficacy can be seen at his office, 405 Kearney street, San Francisco.
COLEMAN'S DOUBLE EXTRACT OF EUCALYPTUS is a powerful, yet harmless, febrifuge, and is a special preparation for the treatment of the malarious fevers of our interior valleys, and is warranted to cure any case of FEVER AND AGUE treated with it according to directions, while the baneful results of the usual Quinine and arsenical remedies for those diseases are entirely avoided.
FOR PHYSICIANS, Coleman's Fluid Extract of Eucalyptus in 1 lb bottles.
Beware of imitations, and take none but COLEMAN'S. For sale everywhere and by Hodge, Calef & Co. Wholesale Druggists, Portland, sole Agents for Oregon.

Nasby's Suggestion.

HE PROPOSES A PLAN FOR THE FINAL DISPOSITION OF THE MODOCS.

CONFEDRIT X ROADS,
(Wich is in the State uv Kentucky),
May 7, 1873.

The great problem uv the day seems to be how to get the Modocs out uv the holes in the Lava Beds, so that they kin be regularly killed by the military forces uv the Yoonited States Ez the Government has armed them ruther better, ez a rule, than they have their own troops, and ez they decline to come out and fite by the regler tactics, the conundrum is a hard one.

Ez it seems to be certain that whoever goes out agin em gets killed, I wood sejest that the shortest way uv endin the war wood be to compel the Indian and army contractors to fite em. But I presume they wood object. They doubtless find it more profitable to furnish the soljers and the Indians. Ez a Kentucky Democrat, who hez never been reconstructed, and never will be, I wood be pleased to hev the tyrant Grant, and the cabinet wich assists him in his tyranny, go on this dooty, but I don't spose they will do it

I hev, however, a sejestion for intrappin the wily savages, which, with my yoosual generosity, I give the public gratis. I ask no reward, but ef the Government hez a sense of gratitood the government knows my address, wich is Confedrit X Roads. Ef a reward is given me, I wood say, let it be in greenbacks. Medals are all well enuff for fuchur generashuns, but medals will not buy likker for this generashun; and this is the one I hev an espeshal interest in. Bascomb don't recognise medals.

My idee is best illustrated by the narrasion uv a incident which occurred at the Cross Roads, only last week, and wich sejested it.

The old citizens uv the Cross Roads, in a sportive mood, a few weeks ago, made it tolerably warm for Pollock and a dozen or so niggers. They bustid in Pollock's house, and bustid the head uv every nigger they happened to meet in the streets. One uv em, I bleev, died from the injoories. Joe Bigler and Pollock determined to see ef ther wuz eny law in Kentucky to protect em, and to that end they made a complaint afore the grand joory, who, ez a matter uv joke, indicted all the participants, wich inclooded Captain McPelter, Elder Pennibacher, Deekin Pogram, Issaker Gavitt and myself. Uv course the jury hed no idee that we shood be arrested, but they wuz mistaken. The Judge and the Sheriff hed ben over to the Corners only a week afore, and hed hed a dispoot with Bascom about a bar bill, and they took this opportoonity to gratify their spite. They came over with a strong posse to take the entire lot uv us, and expectin resistance, came armed.

We got notice uv their intenshun and determined that, no matter wat the result, we wood not submit to so outrageous an infringement uv our rights as Kentuckians. We went to the church—we took in with us our shotguns and revolvers—we barricaded the doors and winders, and calmly awaited the comin uv the minyuns uv the law.

They came—five uv em. Seein our posishun, the Sheriff with a white cloth on the ramrod of his shot-gun approached, and demanded that we surrender.

"Never," sed I. "We are armed to the teeth, and wo be to yoo ef you attempt to take us. Go home, misguided man! The Corners never surrenders!"

He saw that we wuz all armed and went back for [illegible]. We coodent hear wat they sed, but the [illegible] wuz omenus. They sat down [illegible] our citadel to besiege us. They fired shots at us at intervals, wich we returned, tho no damage wuz done on either side.

The day [illegible] away. We entered our fortress at 9 in the mornin, and at 11 we began to be anxious that the siege be raised. We cood go without eatin a day or two without trouble. But at 11 o'clock the terrible fact occurred to us that we hadn't brot with us a drop uv whiskey! not a drop. Ez we gazed out uv the winders we cood see the citizens uv the Corners flockin gaily into Bascom's, and I cood, thru the open door uv the grocery, see Mrs. B. settin out the familyer bottle, and the draughts, [illegible] in there thirst. The site wuz maddenin. Within twenty rods uv [illegible] and not a drop to be had! Outside the officers stood to venture out wuz arrest and yet how cood we stay!

But we resolved (and swore each to the other) that, likker or no likker, we wood resist the officers to the [illegible]; that ef they took us they [illegible]! For men who hed not had a [illegible] for three hours with a grocery in full site, almost within hearin uv the refreshin gurgle uv the fluid ez it gushed from the bottle's mouth, this wuz more then Spartan firmness. Greece in her pammiest days never furnished heroes uv more sterner mold, and the Greeks uv the olden time were no slouches.

At half-past twelve that venerable saint, Deekin Pogram, wuz nearly delirious, and down Elder Pennibacker's wan bloo cheeks tears chased each other in rapid succession.

"We kin die, Elder!" sed the Deekin.

"We kin! we kin!" responded the Elder.

At one o'clock Joe Bigler jined the besiegen party He talked a minit or two with the Sheriff, and one uv the officers left. He went into Bascom's, and in a minit emerged with a jug. That jug he carried up to within ten rods of the meetin house, and sot it on a dry goods box, with a tumbler beside it. We watched the proceedin with breathless interest. Joe Bigler with a piece uv chalk wrote, in bold letters, on that box:

"CORN WHISKEY—FREE!"

And the officers went back a few steps.

The Deekin looked at it, and a shudder shook his venerable frame.

"Parson," sed he, "I am an old man, and cant endoor privashuns as I wunst cood. I will venchur out to see ef we kin compromise with these crooel, crooel men!"

And the Deekin went. He reached the jug, poured out a refresher and swallered it. That act wuz the demoralizashun uv the party. Pennibacker rushed out, Issaker Gavitt follered, Bascom follered him, and bein out uv our stronghold, wuz arrested, one by one, without trouble, amid the jeers uv the officers. Above all rang the jeerin laff uv Bigler, who exultantly remarkt that he knew that not one uv us cood resist the attrackshun uv a jug marked "Free."

That nite we all slept in the jail at Secessionville, from which we only emerged on giving bail for our appearance at Court.

This wuz wat happened to us, and the way it happened. The Modocs, ef they are like other Injuns, hev as ardent affekshun for whiskey ez the average Cross Roader. Let the commandin officer post sharp-shooters in frunt uv the sekret hidin places uv the noble red men. Let him role out afore their hidin places, and within range uv the sharp-shooters, a barel of new corn whiskey, and put on it an inscripshun in the Modoc language, "Free!" Then, ez they cum out for it, shoot em. A Cross Roader wood cum out ef he knew he wuz agoin tu die the next minit, and I bleeve the Injun wood. I wood seggest, however, that they be allowd tu take a good pull afore they are shot. Let us not be crooel. Let the noble red man die happy.

Ez I remarked, ef the Guvernment is grateful for seggestions, and proposes tu reward me for this simple method uv endin a costly war, my address is still at Confedrit Cross Roads, wich is in the State of Kentucky.

PETROLEUM V. NASBY,
(wich wuz Postmaster).

THE FORCE OF ONE IDEA.—Remarks the Rev. Charles Kingsley, in his essay on "Plays and Puritans": "The man who succeeds is generally the narrow man; the man of one idea, who works at nothing but that, sacrifices everything to that—the fanatic, in short. By fanatics, whether military, commercial, or religious, and not by 'liberal-minded men' at all, has the world's work been done in all ages. Amid the modern cants, one of the most mistaken is the cant about the 'mission of genius,' the 'mission of the poet.' Poets, we hear in some quarters, are the annointed kings of mankind—at least, so the little poets sing, each to his little fiddle. There is no greater mistake. It is the practical, prosaical fanatic that does the work, and the poet, if he tries to do it, is certain to put down his spade every five minutes to look at the prospect, and pick flowers, and moralize on dead asses, until he ends a 'Neron malgre luimeme,' fiddling melodiously while Rome is burning."

A Duel without Seconds.

HOW TWO MISSISSIPPIANS SETTLED A QUARREL THAT AROSE BETWEEN DRINKS—TWENTY PACES WITH SHOTGUNS.

[From the Memphis Public Ledger, May 5

In Saturday's Ledger appeared an account of a shotgun duel at Horn Lake, Desoto county, Miss., between Col. Wm. Boteler and Winfield McClelland, which took place last Friday evening. There were quite a number of citizens at Horn Lake when the belligerents walked out a hundred yards from the depot to settle a difficulty without seconds, as none of the gentlemen present would act. The parties had heretofore been good friends, but had quarrelled over their "cups" about some trivial matter. Those in town could see the fighters on the hill, and could hear the loud conversation as they were preparing for the contest. Col. Boteler loaded his gun with heavy squirrel shot, having determined not to kill his opponent, but to cripple him by shooting him in the legs. Mr. McClelland, however, was not so considerate, as he rammed down sixteen buckshot in each barrel.

It was agreed that McClelland should pace off twenty steps from where Boteler stood, then McClelland was to wheel around and both parties were to fire. McClelland marched off, never looking back, but called out the paces as he went. When he called twenty he shouted, "Boteler are you ready?" "Ready," answered the Colonel. Then McClelland wheeled, and there was a simultaneous discharge of the guns, Boteler firing both barrels at once and McClelland but one. The Colonel was unhurt, but McClelland fell, shot through the left leg. He got up, however, and as he staggered he discharged the other load. Boteler approached him and extended his hand, saying:

"McClelland, take my hand and let us be friends."

"I'll be if I do," was the answer.

Some parleying took place, McClelland insisting that he would load his gun again. Colonel Boteler took the precaution to place some buckshot in his pocket, and answered:

"McClelland, you are not much hurt. I shot you with squirrel shot, as I did not desire to kill you; but if you load again, next time I shall kill you certain."

By this time a number of citizens, seeing the puffs of smoke and hearing the report of the guns, ran up and stopped all further proceedings. Dr. Baskerville attended McClelland and extracted fifteen or twenty shot from his leg. Several of the leaden missiles entered the knee and ankle joints, and these could not be extracted. Yesterday Mr. McClelland was suffering intensely, but was in no danger, and no doubt in a month he will be up and well, but in all probability he will have a stiff leg for life.

Both parties were arrested and were taken before a magistrate on Saturday afternoon, and both had to be discharged, as no witnesses were present at the duel.

The Mint at San Francisco will close to-morrow, June 3d, for the annual settlement and repairs, and no crude bullion will be received thereafter until July 1st. The bullion fund has been temporarily increased to $2,000,000, and depositors of fine bullion can draw as readily as though the coinage operations had not been suspended. There will thus be no inconvenience to the public through the stoppage of the Mint. The coinage for the past month will approximate $3,000,000, which is said to be a larger amount than was ever coined before. The Mint is closed earlier than usual, for it is greatly in need of repairs, some portions of the building being in a dangerous condition. During the repairs a new and large coinage press will be erected to accommodate the increased business which is expected to be transacted after the reopening, when the coinage of the new trade Dollar will be commenced. This will be a new feature, and will add to the usual coinage from $500,000 to $1,000,000 per month. It is anticipated that the trade Dollar will take the place of the new issue of Mexican Dollars, since the fineness of these varies from 894 to 907, while the American trade Dollar will have a uniform fineness of 900.

The World's Granaries.

From several of our Eastern exchanges we condense the following in reference to the present quantity and consumption of grain and the prospects of the grain crops of the world. From these figures, which may be deemed approximatively correct, an estimate of the crops for 1873 may be made which will throw much light on the probable supply and demand. The Chicago Journal of Commerce, one of the most reliable authorities in trade circles in the United States, and to which we are principally indebted for our figures, of May 22d, says:

The farmers' deliveries of home-grown wheat in the 150 towns in England and Wales for the week ending April 26, 1873, were 40,610 qrs, at an average price of 54s 10d per qr against 52,061 qrs for the corresponding week in 1872, at an average price of 54s 6d per qr, and against an average of the corresponding weeks of the last ten years of 59,162 qrs, at an average price of 51s 9d per qr.

The imports of foreign grain and flour into the United Kingdom for the week ending April 26, 1873, were: Flour, 97,195 cwts; wheat, 297,149 cwts; corn, 141,250 cwts; oats, 263,486 cwts; barley, 159,045 cwts; peas, 31-689 cwts; beans, 8,902 cwts, other grain, 1,203 cwts. Total, 1,002,910 cwts.

The exports from the United Kingdom for the week ending April 26, 1873, were: Flour, 1,519 cwts; wheat, 1,505 cwts; barley, 196 cwts; peas, 39 cwts; beans, 3 cwts; maize, 1,446 cwts; oats, 636 cwts. Total, 5,384

The approximate supply of which for the week ending April 26, 1873, flour included, comprising the farmers' deliveries in the Kingdom, plus the imports, minus the exports, was equal to 249,751 qrs, against an estimated average weekly consumption of from 400,000 to 423,000 qrs pe. week. This is the smallest weekly supply for a very long period. The supply of the previous week was 264,080 quarters, or a supply in two weeks from imports and deliveries of home grown wheat of 548,841 qrs, against a consumption in 2 weeks of 800,000 to 846,000 qrs, including that the stocks in granary were reduced in two weeks 2,049,272 to 2,418,240 bu.

The stock of wheat in Marseilles April 25, 1873, was 58,024 metrical quintals of 220½ lbs each, against 590,000 metrical quintals at the corresponding date in 1872. The imports from the 18th to the 26th of April, 1873, were 23 000 quintals, against 64,100 quintals for the corresponding week in 1872. The imports from January 1 to April 26, 1873, were 808,200 quintals, against 1,270,900 quintals for the corresponding period in 1872

The small stock of wheat at Odessa, as compared with last year, gives a firm market there. Seven steamers with 359,056 bu of wheat were on passage to the United Kingdom It usually takes 21 days from Odessa, and 23 days from the Danube or the Azov Sea, to make the passage to the United Kingdom

In Hungary the weather was, at latest mail dates, reported fine and dry, with rain wanted for the spring grain.

From Germany the reports of the growing crops continue favorable, though the weather was dry and cold, tendency of prices of wheat was upward

In Holland the weather was fine and warm; the sowing had been completed under favorable auspices

From Belgium fine and favorable weather is reported, but a temperature accompanied by frosty nights

The appearance of the wheat plant in France was quite generally favorably spoken of, but rye had suffered from too much moisture. French markets generally held small supplies, accompanied by rising prices

In the United Kingdom for several weeks the supply of grown wheat has been considerably below the average of the last ten years, which has caused, at many points, augmented values for the best qualities of wheat which are scarce, but inferior grades are without improvement, and compose the larger portion of the offerings. These are quite neglected and almost unsaleable

The stocks of wheat in granary have been quite rapidly diminished in the United Kingdom, as the deliveries of home-grown wheat, plus the imports, have for several weeks been about 100 qrs or 800,000 bu weekly below the weekly consumption

The stocks of wheat throughout France, at Odessa, the Danubian and Azov ports, are small as compared with the stocks at a corresponding date in 1872 The diminishing stocks in Germany at the principal centers of supply give rising prices The tendency of prices is quite generally upward throughout Europe. From this time to the harvest weather markets may be expected, and if favorable to the crops, probably steady, full prices, but if unfavorable, a higher range of prices will rule The supply and demand for wheat are so nearly equal that permanently lower prices are not from this time to the harvest, probable

It is expected there will be ample supplies of maize from the Danubian principalities, the crop of which last year was prolific and of good quality. This maize will come in competition with American maize in the markets of the United Kingdom. The stocks of Danubian maize, however, held at the principal points of export over winter, are but small portion in first class condition

There were in transit for the United Kingdom on May 3d, 1873, exclusive of steamer shipments from America and the Baltic sea ports, 260 cargoes of wheat and 61 cargoes of corn, against 120 cargoes of wheat and 30 cargoes of corn at the corresponding date in 1872, and 135 cargoes of wheat and 33 cargoes of corn at the corresponding date in 1871. The cargoes of wheat in transit May 3d, 1873, comprised 180 from the Pacific coast, estimated to average about 45 000 bu each, 6 from Adelaide, Australia, estimated to average about 48,000 bu each; 15 steamers from Southwestern Europe estimated at 40,000 bu each, and 59 vessels from other parts estimated at 24,000 bu each, make an aggregate of 11 258 000 bu, against an estimated amount in transit in 1872, averaging the cargoes at 24,000 bu each, of 2 888,000 bu

Another report makes the number of cargoes of grain in transit May 1st, 1873 Wheat, 272 cargoes corn 53 cargoes, against 140 wheat and 21 corn at the corresponding date in 1872, and 122 cargoes of wheat and 47 cargoes of corn at the corresponding date in 1871 This report makes 14 cargoes from Adelaide and 2 from Melbourne, Australia, or eight more than the previous account, and 213 cargoes from the Pacific coast, or 16 more than the previous account, which, averaged at 45,000 bu each, will augment the stock in transit 1 122,000 bu, making the aggregate in transit 12,360,000 bu.

The Wool Market.

In conversations with buyers of this staple, as well as with the commission merchants who are occasionally receiving small consignments, we learn that the spring clip is of a much better quality than of former years, and from all parts of the State information reaches us that the aggregate of the yield will greatly exceed that of any past year. It then becomes a matter of much interest to the people as to what the demand will be, and hence what will the commodity command. Last fall it was generally believed that prices would rule at a remunerative figure, but later in the season it was found that factories had failed to make as large sales as were expected, and would carry over extensive stocks of last year's make. Hence, to the surprise of the most far sighted, the dawn of spring found the price away down and the demand dull, and even in that condition of the market many large factories in the East ceased operations because of their inability to place their productions, and under these circumstances the spring clip of this season begins to come in. Buyers have been very cautious, and so continue, though the latest advices denote some more activity in the market

The imports at the port of New York for the week ending May 10th were 140 bales from England, valued at $26,303. The stock of foreign wool is reported large and sales are limited to small lots, though there is a trifle better inquiry at rather low rates. Of domestic wool fleeces California and Texas are in most demand, but there is a scarcity of prime stock of all descriptions. Advices of the 14th report sales of 30 bales New Zealand on private terms, 14 bales spring California, slightly burry, at 25c, 4 000 lbs unwashed on private terms, 120 000 lbs scoured Texas on private terms, 104 bags super, 20 000 lbs extra fleeces at 50c, and 200 bales Cape at 35a36 Receipts for the week, (domestic) bales, 945; receipts from January 1st, (domestic) bales, 34,574; receipts for the same time last year, (domestic) bales, 15,538

The Boston Shipping List of May 17th, says of wool

The advices from Great Britain report no important change. The reported advance at the opening of the London sales was more imaginary than real The wool was in better condition, and the gain in scoured wool more than offset the nominal price This fact is evident from the most reliable circulars lately received. Wool, however, is higher abroad than here, and there is no market for shipment to this side. With the exception of California, no new domestic wool has yet been received of any consequence Sales include 20,000 lbs new spring California at 30c; 50,000 lbs do, 22@33c; 6,200 lbs do, 20@33c; 54,000 lbs do, 27@30, 9,000 lbs do, 27½c, 6,000 lbs do, 28c, 3,600 lbs do, 25c; 3 600 lbs burry spring, 24c; 5,000 lbs old spring, 15c, 8,000 lbs fall, 25c, 45,000 lbs burry fall, 17@20c

Puget Sound Shipping.

The Olympia Tribune says:

The ship War Hawk, 1,015 tons, has been recently sold in San Francisco for $18,500. She belonged to S. L. Mastick & Co., and was employed in the lumber trade between Port Discovery and San Francisco. The War Hawk is a fast sailer

On the 15th of April the ship Paulina arrived at Callao from Port Blakely, and on the 17th the ship Tropique from Victoria. On the 23d the ship Wm Wilcox sailed from Callao for Puget Sound

The ship Dashing Wave, 1,054 tons, has been chartered to carry lumber from Puget Sound to Callao, at $25 per thousand feet. The price is a very fair one, and would have been considered enormous two years ago, but is a falling off of from $3 to $5 as compared with last season.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks, and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, [illegible], intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry, which will cost you nothing, and may save you many [illegible], for, as advertising physicians in eight out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are.
